ISS Housing

ISS helps high-functioning adults live independently—and flourish

A place to call their own.

For many adults who are developmentally disabled, being independent and contributing meaningfully to their community is important for their self-esteem and adulthood experience. Self-sufficient and capable individuals in Hamaspik's care often yearn for a level of independence on par with that of their peers.

The ISS Housing Program supports individuals to live on their own in eligible apartments. Rent is significantly subsidized every month, and a furnishing stipend helps create an inviting environment for a growing young adult.

Is ISS Housing for you?

- For independent, high-functioning individuals capable of living on their own
- For people who don't need the high level of social interaction at group homes
- For anyone who is ready to be on their own but still flourish in the community

Group Home

Gold-standard supervised homes have a warm and welcoming environment

A home away from home.

No one can replace the love of a parent. But when it's time for an adult individual to leave home and establish themselves in a community of their own, Hamaspik Group Homes are the only answer. Our numerous supervised group homes in the heart of Boro Park and Williamsburg maintain the gold standard of care, ensuring that the health, safety, and quality of life of every individual in our homes far surpass all government requirements.

Hamaspik Group Homes have a unique intake model that ensures that everyone in a Group Home is at the same functionality level and can coexist as a harmonious unit. A beautiful atmosphere is maintained throughout the year, from the couple who conduct Shabbos seudos to the Sukkah built every Sukkos. And throughout the holidays, we're there--whether a member would like to go back to his family or wants to stay in the Group Home.

Daily chores, Motzei Shabbos Zumba, Sunday shopping: Hamaspik Group Home functions like a real family unit, keeping members busy and preoccupied every day. Goal advancement, diet, medication and more are supervised by warm, professional staff members who are always there. Our goal: to offer maximum independence, while keeping everyone safe.

Family Care

Hamaspik helps match up children in need with stable, loving families

Exceptional families for exceptional children.

Sometimes difficult decisions must be made for a disabled child. If a disabled child must leave home, whether temporarily or permanently, Hamaspik is there to help. Our OPWDD-backed Family Care program helps individuals with developmental disabilities find a safe, stable, and loving home.

A nurse and family care liaison routinely visits, making sure our high standards are maintained throughout the stay. With personal attention and commitment, Hamaspik works with parents and providers to secure the best possible outcome for the individual – for both the short term and the future.

Our goal: maximum independence, while keeping everyone safe.
